Through the application of this approach the Underlying Fund has an expected minimum of 20% in Sustainable Investments. Furthermore, the Underlying Fund targets an ESG rating that is equal to or better, and a meaningfully lower carbon intensity, than the benchmark.

This approach utilises abrnn's equity investment process, which enables portfolio managers to qualitatively identify and focus investment in sustainable leaders and improvers. Sustainable leaders are viewed as companies with the best in class ESG credentials or products and services which address global environmental and societal challenges, whilst improvers are typically companies with average governance, ESG management practices and disclosure with potential for improvement.

To complement this research, the abrnn ESG House Score is used to quantitatively identify and exclude those companies exposed to the highest ESG risks. Additionally, abrnn apply a set of company exclusions which are related to the UN Global Compact, Norges Bank Investment Management (NBIM), Weapons, Tobacco, Gambling, Thermal Coal, Oil & Gas and Electricity Generation. More detail on this overall process is captured within the abrnn Asia Pacific Sustainable Equity Investment Approach, which is published at www.abrnn.com under "Fund Centre".

Engagement with external company management teams is used to evaluate the ownership structures, governance and management quality of those companies in order to inform portfolio construction.

The abrnn Asia Pacific Sustainable Equity Investment Approach reduces the benchmark investable universe by a minimum of 20%.

The Underlying Fund may utilise financial derivative instruments for hedging and/or investment purposes, or to manage foreign exchange risks, subject to the conditions and within the limits laid down by applicable laws and regulations. The use of derivatives for hedging and/or investment purposes is expected to be very limited, mainly in those cases where there are significant inflows into the Underlying Fund so that cash

The Underlying Fund promotes environmental and social characteristics but does not have a sustainable investment objective. Investment in all debt and debt-related securities will follow the abrdn “Select Emerging Markets Bond Promoting ESG Investment Approach”.

Through the application of this approach, the Underlying Fund has an expected minimum of 10% in Sustainable Investments.

This approach is designed to evaluate the Environmental, Social, Governance and Political (“ESGP”) characteristics of sovereign issuers using a range of data points. This data results in a score being calculated for each of the four ESGP pillars and an overall ESGP score is then assigned to each issuer, based on an equally weighted average across the pillars. The overall ESGP score allows a subset of countries falling below a threshold to be excluded from the investment universe.

In addition to the exclusion threshold, a forward-looking qualitative Direction of Travel assessment is conducted. This assessment is based on internal research and focuses on material ESG factors, allowing quantitative exclusions to be overridden where ESGP weaknesses are being adequately addressed by the sovereign issuer and this is not reflected in the data.

To promote sustainable development, the Underlying Fund may invest in Green bonds, Social bonds or Sustainable bonds issued by excluded countries where the proceeds of such issues can be confirmed as having a positive environmental or social impact.

For investments in debt and debt-related securities issued by corporations, the abrdn ESG House Score is used to quantitatively identify and exclude those companies exposed to the highest ESG risks. In addition, abrdn apply a set of company exclusions, which are related to the UN Global Compact, Controversial Weapons, Tobacco Manufacturing and Thermal Coal. While these exclusions are applied at a company level, investment is permitted in Green bonds, Social bonds or Sustainable bonds issued by companies otherwise excluded by the environmental screens, where the proceeds of such issues can be confirmed as having a positive environmental impact.

Engagement with issuers is a part of abrdn’s investment process and ongoing stewardship programme. As part of this, where the engagement process identifies companies in high carbon emitting sectors with ambitious and credible targets to decarbonise their operations, up to 5% of assets may be invested in these companies in order to support their transition to ultimately comply with the environmental screens.

Further detail of this overall process is captured within the “Select Emerging Markets Bond Promoting ESG Investment

	Approach”, which is published at www.abrdn.com under “Fund Centre”. Investment in financial derivative instruments, money-market instruments and cash may not adhere to this approach.

Distribution Policy

Please refer to the section on “Distribution of Dividends” (if applicable) in the relevant Investment Linked Product (ILP) - Product Summary for further details.

Risks

The ILP sub-funds are not listed on the Singapore Exchange and you can redeem only on Business Days through Singapore Life Ltd. In respect of Singapore investors, there is no secondary market for the ILP sub-fund.

Please refer to the section on “General Risk Factors” and “Fund Information” in the abrdn SICAV I Prospectus for a description of the risk factors associated with investing in the Underlying Funds. The risks may include:

Contingent Convertible Bonds Risk

The Underlying Fund may be invested in contingent convertible bonds. If the financial strength of a bond’s issuer falls by a predetermined threshold, the bond may suffer substantial or total losses of capital.

Concentration Risk

A concentrated portfolio may be more volatile and less liquid than a more broadly diversified one. The Underlying Fund's investments are concentrated in a particular country or sector.

Currency Risk

The Underlying Fund may be exposed to Currency Risk

Where the currency of the Underlying Fund varies from the currency invested, or where the currency of the Underlying Fund varies from the currencies of the markets in which the Underlying Fund invests, you will be exposed to exchange rate risks and there is the prospect of additional loss (or the prospect of additional gain) to the investor greater than the usual risks of investment.

Derivatives Risk

Derivatives may be used for hedging or efficient portfolio management.

In adverse situation, the Underlying Fund’s use of financial derivative instruments may become ineffective, and the Underlying Fund may suffer significant losses. The use of derivatives carries the risk of reduced liquidity, substantial loss and increased volatility in adverse market conditions, such as a failure amongst market participants. The use of derivatives may result in the Underlying Fund being leveraged (where market exposure and thus the potential for loss by the Underlying Fund exceeds the amount it has invested) and in these market conditions the effect of leverage will be to magnify losses.

Emerging Markets Risk

The Underlying fund may invest in emerging market equities and / or bonds. Investing in emerging markets involves a greater risk of loss than investing in more developed markets due to, among other factors, greater political, tax, economic, foreign exchange, liquidity and regulatory risks. The Underlying Fund may invest in Indian equity and equity-related securities thereby providing exposure to Emerging Markets which tend to be more volatile than mature markets and its value could move sharply up or down. In some circumstances, the underlying investments may become less liquid which may constrain the Underlying Fund’s Investment Manager’s ability to realise some or all of the portfolio. The registration and settlement arrangements in emerging markets may be less developed than in more mature markets so the operational risks of investing are higher. Political risks and adverse economic circumstances are more likely to arise.

Equity Risk

The Underlying Fund may invest in equity and equity related securities. These are sensitive to variations in the stock markets which can be volatile and change substantially in short periods of time.

Exchange Rates Risk

The Underlying Fund may invest in securities denominated in a number of different currencies other than the Base Currency in which the Underlying Fund is denominated. Changes in foreign currency exchange rates may adversely affect the value of the Underlying Fund’s investments and the income thereon

Interest Rate Risk and Credit Risk

The Underlying Fund's underlying investments may be subject to interest rate risk and credit risk. Interest rate fluctuations affect the capital value of investments. Where long-term interest rates rise, the capital value of bonds is likely to fall and vice versa. Credit risk reflects the ability of a bond issuer to meet its obligations. Where a bond market has a low number of buyers and/or a high number of sellers, it may be harder to sell particular bonds at an anticipated price and/or in a timely manner.

Market risk

Prices of the securities owned by the Underlying Fund may rise or fall in response to changes in economic conditions, political conditions, interest rates, and market sentiment. These may cause the price of units of the Underlying Fund to go up or down.

Single Country Risk

The Underlying Fund's exposure to a single country market increases potential volatility.

Specific Regional Market Risk.

The Underlying Fund may invest in a specific regional market sector, which is the Asia Pacific countries (excluding Japan) and is likely to be more volatile than a more widely invested fund.

Sub-Investment Grade Bonds Risk

The Underlying Fund may invest in fixed interest securities, including sub-investment grade securities. Consequently, the Underlying Fund's portfolio may have a significant position in sub-investment grade bonds, which means that there is more risk to investor's capital and income than from a fund investing in investment grade bonds.

The above should not be considered to be an exhaustive list of the risks which you should consider before investing into the Underlying Funds. You should be aware that an investment in the Underlying Funds may be exposed to other risks of an exceptional nature from time to time.
